even to the pitching staff. Only three men are left from last year's regular team, Niple, Clark and Sheehan.
The first call for indoor practice was made yesterday afternoon and a large number of candidates responded. A number of last year's substitutes will try for regular positions this year. They are Hawk, Ferguson, Tolbert, Piersol, Harris and Lenhart. For the out-field Sprout and Dawson are nikely candidates, Among the freshmen there will be no lack of candidates for positions on the 'varsity, Leach, Hoffman, Howell, Arnold and Loveland all have come her with good preparatory school records.
No positions, however, have been finally determined on the regular team so far. It is very likely that Captain Sheehan will cover first-base and Clark will catch. Druckenmiller, however, is also clover hehind the bat. Niple will probably play his old position at third-base.
Alt winter the new pitching staff, which will take the place of Leach and Parsons has been practicing daily. It consists of Carey and Northrup. The former has a good line of curves, while the latter showed up well in the early part of last season, but was given little chance to develop. The loss of August, Leach and Grimmingor by graduation will be made up from the incoming class.

THE FATHER OF THEATRES

SQUIRE LON NIE GRAVES

ers were, sent to him, and a' hugo laurel wreath was particularly noticed."

Vienna Press Criticisms, The Fremdenblatt Press says:
A planistic personality of strong individuality is John Powell; he commands a wealth of artistic imagination, that one does not find in others any too often. He can feel for himself and gives over to the hearers all sentiments from the tenderest lyric dreaminess to transporting dramatic passion. His touch is in ppp always clear; in fff always noble. How charmingly he grouped, interwove and intertwined the blooming vin-like figures in Haydn's F Minor variations; how grandly and mightly did he build up Lisz's B Minor Sonata. Here every detail was thought out, no, felt out, and was in consequence by momeans dispersed into disunity, but was as if out of one mold. Powell is one called; the works presented are familiar to him, like one's own home, that one loves, because it enfolds our happiness. The Sonn-und Montags-Courler says:
The planists are getting rarer, During the last week we heard only one in Rosendorfer Hall, the Leschetizky pupil, John Powell, who has very great ability, especially in that he has absolute mastery of the technique of planoping. In this direction he was above criticism. Powell belongs decidely among the best of the younger secration of planists.

The Releils Post says:

He began to medulate into the Schubert-Tauzig Marche Militaire, which was to close the program, but when they saw what he was doing such a storm went up that he had to give up and bow several times more. He evidently did not want to play this again, because he was tired, and still had the octaves of the Marche before him. Finally, in order to get quiet, he nodded assent to the secrems of "bis!" Instead of the Leschetizky, however, he began the Marche at once. When the audience saw that he had outwitted them, they raised a terrific row, so that he was simply compelled to stop the Schubert and play the Octave Sindy again. But it was after the Marche that the greatest demonstration came. He was recalled twelve times and forced to play two encores. There is no telling when it would have stopped if the ladies had not made a rush for the stage, with the men after them, and Powell was literally overwhelmed with enthisiastic congratuiations. Some beautiful flowers were, sent to him, and a' huge laurel wreath was particularly noticed." Vienna Press Criticisms,
